

Appendix 1: Topics per country

The following table presents our data sources: for each country we list the relevant Local Managing Authorities (LMAs): we downloaded text sources from their Facebook pages. Then we list the number of posts and comments analyzed, which form the total words included in our corpus.

This Appendix is then structured as follows: for each national case study we list the 20 most important words and a synthetic description for each topic. In this inductive phase of the analysis, to make sense of each topic, we relied on the list of words per topic, and on the three most representative comments/posts for each topic. For each national case study, this task was conducted together with our XXX project partners, who are trained academics with context awareness.

Topic 0 - REGIONAL POLITICS IN EMILIA-ROMAGNA: The topic reports the debate on the politics of the region of Emilia-Romagna and the connected debate on the political administration of the city of Bologna, the region capital. The name of the president of the region's administration recurs. More specifically, the topic associates issues of local politics in the media. Names of newspapers and media agencies are mentioned.

Topic 1 - GENERAL COMPLAINTS (ITALINA CASE): This topic collects words used in general complaints pointed at LMAs. In example, the comment most connected to this topic is: "what a nice idea to throw away money! Did you ask for our opinion before doing this stupid thing?"

Topic 2 - EUROPE AND THE EARTHQUAKE: The topic mentions structural funds in light of the debate that followed the allocation of structural funds to support the Italian areas affected by earthquakes.

Topic 3 - HEALTH CARE ADMINISTRATION: The topic addresses the debate on health care administration. Words such as "test", "blood", "doctor", "prevention", "health" and "health caring" are associated to "regional" and to the word "ticket", the latter pointing at the controversial introduction of citizens having to cover a part of medical expenses. The topic captures the debate on the choice to associate private and state health care.

Topic 4 – INFRASTRUCTURE: The topic regards the debate on the local management of a number of typically challenging issues. Recurring themes in the topic are transportation, train, garbage collection and recycling.

Topic 5 – REGION OF EMILIA-ROMAGNA: The topic centers on names and labels referring to towns in Emilia-Romagna. Interestingly, however, words that refer to local specific characteristics follow. The word "dop" is mentioned that refers to the labelling of wines to indicate their specific local origin or their territory. The word "igp" is also reported that refers to the labelling of food to indicate their geographical origin. Both "dop" and "igp" labelling systems are assigned by the European Union. In addition, the topic includes the label "food & wine" and the word "enogastronomic". This association of words suggests that the collection of geographical indications are used in texts in which local specificities are described in the context of the labelling systems at work in the European Union.

Topic 6 - LOCAL CULTURAL POLICY: The topic mentions an array of cultural activities typically managed, funded, sponsored or hosted by local authorities. The topic seems to represent the communication of the cultural policy or, in general, the cultural activity of regional authorities.

Topic 7 – DISINFESTATION: The topic comprises a recurring debate that relates to the management of disinfestation. Typically, in the summer, local administrations face public reactions to the real or perceived increase in mosquitos. Often, administrations cut in expenses for disinfestation and citizens suffer increases in mosquitos. However, at times, citizens' complaints are not related to cuts in expenses for disinfestation. Recently, the debate on a new species of mosquitos animated the debate. The so-called "tiger-mosquitos", an apparently more aggressive insect, has started to populate Italian regions in the last decade creating concern and attention. Interestingly, the debate on mosquitos, far from being politically neutral, is loaded with political meaning. In particular, the fear of the "tiger-mosquitos" came to symbolize the menace stemming from the invasion of exotic forms of life. The mosquito is a symbol for the threat that comes from weakened borders. The danger of a physical contagion from the mosquitos, which is mentioned in the topic, in the public political discourse, is the most visible example of the need to be protected within own borders. In this light, the debate on contagion often veils xenophobic attitudes towards the openness of borders.

Topic 8 – SPECIFIC COMPLAINTS: This topic collects words used in complaints, mostly referring to the region Emilia-Romagna, on specific activities or decisions taken by the region. For example, the first comment wants the region to publish a specific budget regarding the reconstruction work after the 2012 earthquake. The second comment complaints about specific activities adopted to foster the development of a town in the Appennini.

Topic 9 – VACCINES: The topic picks up another recent debate that was at the center of public debate in recent months. The issue regards parents' associations that gave rise to a grass-root social movements to abolish mandatory vaccines for children in primary school. The movement built their protests on alleged scientific researches that claim to have proven the impact of specific vaccines on the development of particularly dangerous health problems.

Topic 10 - EMILIA ROMAGNA AND THE EXPO: The topic captures the debate that took place in Emilia-Romagna in reference to the Expo world fair in Milano in 2015. The topic gathers discourse on food and agricultural products. The word "quality", "culture" and "excellence" point at the role of Emilia-Romagna in the presentation of Italian culture at the Milano Expo. Also, a number of words revolve around the issue of tourism suggesting that the topic covers the relationship between the EXPO and the opportunity for Emilia-Romagna to foster economic activities and tourism.

Topic 11 - LOCAL EDUCATION POLICY: The topic centers on debates on education. It refers to specific initiatives, such as conferences and workshops on education. Both graduate and post-graduate education is mentioned.

Topic 12 – (DISCONTENTMENT WITH) FUNDING APPLICATION PROCESS IN CALABRIA: The topic gathers words that refer to the management of structural funds. Words used are "submission of application", "call", "application"; "information", "web site", "rules of participation" and URP, which is the acronym for the office in charge of the relationships with citizens. Interestingly, the topic seems to speak to the problem of communication between local managing authorities and citizens. The explicit reference to the website of Calabria suggests that the topic is especially connected to text collected in the region.

Topic 13 - USING STRUCTURAL FUNDS IN CALABRIA: The topic collects words that refer both to technical issues connected to structural funds and to words that describe research, innovation and economic activity. For example, among the technical terms, are "calls", "POR" (acronym for regional operative programs), "FESR" (Italian acronym for European Regional Development Fund) and "programming period". On the other hand, the technical terms are associated with words such as "enterprises", "research", "opportunity", "development", "projects" and "innovation". The explicit connection to the European Union emerges in the words "European" and "Commission". The explicit reference to the website of Calabria suggests that the topic is especially connected to text collected in the region.

Topic 14 - YOUTH UNEMPLOYMENT: The topic describes the debate around youth unemployment at the local level. In the debate, an association emerges between training programs and employment. The reference to Emilia-Romagna suggests that the texts that talk about youth unemployment were collected mostly in the region.

Topic 15 - USING STRUCTURAL FUNDS IN EMILIA-ROMAGNA: The topic collects words that generally describe the opportunities for funding such as "millions", "Euro", "funds" and "calls". To these words, words that describe research, innovation and economic activity are associated. For example, the topic includes words such as "enterprises", "resources", and "projects". The reference to Emilia-Romagna suggests that the topic is especially connected to text collected in the region.

Topic 16 – PROTECTION OF EMILIA-ROMAGNA: The topic seems to refer specifically to the political discourse held by a politician responsible for the protection of the territory and the coast of Emilia-Romagna region. Words such as "emergency", "bad weather", "security" and "territory" speaks to their specific area of political and administrative activity.

Topic 17 – GENDER EQUALITY INITIATIVES: This topic mainly advertises regarding action, taken by Emilia-Romagna in order to promote gender equality.

Topic 18 – NOISE (ITALIAN CASE)

Topic 19 - REGIONAL VOTING: The topic reports the discourse on specific elections held in Emilia-Romagna. "Votes", "election" and "results" are the most important words that characterize the topic.

<sup>1</sup> Because of the specific features of Polish language, it is possible to find the same word under different declinations. In example, we find, in the same column, europejskie and europejska, Olsztyn and Olsztynie, Dolny Śląsk and Dolnego Śląska, and Giżycko and Giżycku. This issue just reinforces the interpretation of a specific topic. Also, there are several geographical names in the table. We list them here as an aid for the reader: Olsztyn, Święta Lipka, Braniewo, Niegocin, Kętrzyn, Mrągowo, Węgorzewo, Mikołajki, Wigry, Iława, Giżycko, Lidzbark Warmiński, Szczytno, Ryn, Ostróda.
